Wednesday, March 24, 1915.

Przemysl, it appears, was starved out and captured by bombardment or assault. The taking of the city is a credit to Russian skill and generalship rather than to Russian valor.

Another call has come for help in Belgium. Little Belgium is the country that has nothing to gain and everything to lose whatever the outcome. Wantonly invaded by Germany and cruelly deserted by England, in her hour of need Belgium is peculiarly the ward of the United States, and this country must and will see her through. Another public meeting is to be held in Bennington with Miss Julia Roche as the principal speaker. Miss Roche is a graduate of Vassar and has traveled much in Belgium since the opening of the war. She knows the needs of the suffering people there and is coming to Bennington to tell the Bennington people about it. This town has many calls at home. It has been the hardest year here in half a century perhaps and many of our own people must be helped but Bennington of today is the worthy descendant of the brave and patriotic men who founded the town one hundred and fifty years ago, and Bennington stands ready today to take care of her own and do her full share toward feeding the hungry and homeless of stricken Belgium.

ATTACHED TWO LOCOMOTIVES

To Cover Suit for $15,000 Brought Against Rutland R. R.

Rutland, March 20—John H. Colton of this city, a railroad brakeman, has brought suit in Rutland county court against the Rutland railroad to recover $15,000 damages, alleging that negligence of the company was responsible for injuries he received when he fell from the top of a freight car at Colchester while in the performance of his duties on July 11, 1914. Joseph C. Jones of this city is counsel for Mr. Colton. Two locomotives were yesterday afternoon attached by Deputy Sheriff Henry R. Adams of this city to cover the suit.

Mr. Colton asserts that just as he gave a signal with his lantern for the engineer to start the train there was a great jolting of the cars and he came in contact with a large hook which protruded near the main line and fell from the car top, receiving a compound fracture of the left leg and other injuries. The declaration states that he was confined to the hospital for 35 weeks and will have to employ a doctor and go about on crutches for some time longer.

The ways in which the railroad is alleged to have been negligent are: Furnishing the plaintiff an unsafe place in which to work; permitting the dangerous hook to hang too near the main line of traffic; permitting ice to remain on top of the car so that walking was perilous; employing a foreman who was incompetent to direct men; permitting its locomotive to get out of repair so that the train operated by it was jostled unnecessarily, having an engineer on the train who was not competent.

Mr. Colton declares that he has already expended $1,200 for medical attendance and hospital bills and that his leg is practically useless for life. He is 22 years old.

WHAT CAUSES COLDS?

This question and "How to Prevent Colds" is asked a thousand times every day. A cold is really a fever, not always caused by the weather but due to a disordered condition of the blood or lack of important food-elements. In changing seasons fat-foods are essential because they distribute heat by enriching the blood and so render the body better able to withstand the varying elements.

This is the underlying reason why the medicinal fats in Scott's Emulsion quickly overcome colds and build strength to prevent more serious sickness. It contains nature's medicinal fats, so skillfully prepared that the blood profits from every drop, and it is free from harmful drugs or alcohol.

Constipation a Penalty of Age

Nothing is so essential to health in advancing age as keeping the bowels open. It makes one feel younger and fresher and forestalls colds, piles, fevers and other dependent ills.

Cathartics and purgatives are violent and drastic in action and should be avoided. A mild, effective laxative- tonic, recommended by physicians and thousands who have used it, is the combination of simple herbs with pepsin sold by druggists everywhere under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. The price is fifty cents and one dollar a bottle. For a free trial bottle write to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 451 Washington St., Monticello, Ill.

FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

BAY OF SAN FRANCISCO.

What It Once Was and What It May Become in the Future.

Few people in viewing the bay of San Francisco think of it as other than a magnificent landlocked harbor about which has grown the commercial metropolis of the Pacific coast of the United States.

Yet this harbor did not always exist, according to a report on the geology of the region published by the United States geological survey, for at one time through the depression now occupied by the bay ran a great river that drained the Sacramento and San Joaquin valleys.

This river probably flowed between the Tiburon peninsula and Angel Island and then through the gorge of the Golden Gate, where at present the greatest depth of water is over 400 feet. After the river valley was formed the coast slowly sank, and the ocean entered through the Golden Gate, flooded the valley and formed the present bay.

Thus the valley occupied by the bay is really not so very different from Santa Clara and Santa Rosa valleys, and should the Pacific coast sink a few hundred feet lower those fertile valleys would form great additions to the present bay.

THEY ALL MARRY COUSINS.

Curious Custom of Some Native Tribes of Southern India.

In some parts of southern India the natives have a custom of marriage between cousins which is a result of a strange compromise between two opposite rules of succession. The natives are Dravidians, who have come under Brahminical influence. Among the Dravidians the mother was the head of the family and all descent and inheritance came through her. The Brahminical rule of succession is through the father.

According to P. J. Richards, writing in "Man," the matrilinear community, while being unwilling to give up its traditional custom, saw the advantage of insuring to children the benefit of the natural desire of the father—the worker and provider—to provide for his offspring. Therefore they adopted the custom of a man marrying the daughter of his mother's brother, or his father's sister or of his own sister.

In this way a community in which all property is inherited through the mother conforms to the patrilinear system and so keeps the property in the family, this, according to Mr. Richards, being the economical reason for the strange custom.

A Queen Elizabeth Joke.

Queen Elizabeth liked her jokes, and, although her pleasures were of a less sanguinary turn than her father's, she must have been even more formidable than usual when disposed to be frolicsome. A tale may be found in one of Lord Essex's letters with regard to a new dress belonging to one of her maids of honor, over the possession of which the queen had been rash enough to exhibit some elation. The young lady, it seems, was several inches taller than her majesty, hardly perhaps quite a nice or loyal thing to be. Having desired that the dress should be made over to her custody, the queen, first carefully selecting an extremely wet day, was pleased to put it on and trail it for yards behind her in the mud, the owner of the humiliated garment having to appear as delighted with the royal fun and condescension as the rest of the lookers-on.—London Tailor.

The Manufacture of Plate Glass.

The casting table of a plate glass factory is about twenty feet long, fifteen feet wide and six inches thick. Strips of iron on each side afford a bearing for the rollers and determine the thickness of the plate to be cast. The molten glass is poured on end to end, spreads the glass to a uniform thickness. The glass after cooling rapidly is transferred to the annealing oven, where it remains several days. When taken out it is very rough and uneven and in that state is used for skylights and other purposes where strength is desired rather than transparency. The greater part of the glass, however, is ground, smoothed and polished.

Eating Too Much.

The Lancet, the great English medical paper, says that Englishmen and Americans eat too much. It especially advises people of middle age and older to practice self restraint in the matter of food. "As the fire of life burns less fiercely and the output of energy is smaller," says the writer, "so the fuel supplied should be reduced that the system may not be clogged with ashes and half burntinders, whereby the activity of the whole machine is from time to time impaired and may even be prematurely arrested."

Exhausting.

"I call your attention to a most exhausting performance over near the piano."

"What do you mean?"

"One lone man is trying to hold up his end of the conversation against three women."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Progression.

"When I was poor and got sick I sent for a doctor."

"Well?"

"Now that I'm rich I get ill and send for a physician."—Philadelphia Ledger.

48—YEARS—48

This business was founded March 15, 1867, by Irving E. Gibson, the senior partner, and for 48 years, without a break, has furnished a high grade of goods at reasonable prices.

We carry as fine a stock of groceries and table specialties as there is in Vermont and better than most. We sell just as low as goods can honestly be sold, for buyers should remember that if one article is sold below cost the loss must be made up on something else.

Forty-eight years of dealing with the people of Bennington and vicinity gives us a knowledge of what the people want, and those wants in the grocery, canned goods and bakery lines we are always ready to supply.
